RECEIVED A CALL.

Rev. J. W. Porter Will Not Accept It Just at Present.

Yesterday's Courier-Journal printed the following dispatch:

BRISTOL, TENN., Jan. 30th, 1900.—The Rev. J. W. Porter, who has been called the "Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Bristol," has accepted the pastorate of the First Baptist Church, expressing his intention of coming here the first of next month, and will be held over. Mr. Porter is at present the pastor of a church at Maysville, Ky. He will have charge of the church and preach two eloquent sermons, which were highly appreciated by the congregation of the First Church.

It is due Rev. Porter to say that the above is true only in part.

He wrote the Committee asking that his name be withdrawn from them, as he did not think it wise to change just at present, but the church would not do it.

He also wrote and told them that he would preach for them the first Sunday in February, but Monday wrote them that it would be impossible for him to fit in.

While he has not as yet openly declined the call from the Bristol Church, it is hoped that he will, as there never was a Baptist Pastor in Maysville as popular as Rev. Porter, and when we say that everybody in Maysville would be pleased to see him and his estimable family leave we would but be telling the story in a mild way, as they are beloved by all.

SOMEONE in the February number of The Metropolitan Magazine says: "Whatever our readers very rarely see is a steamboat of the old-fashioned type that marched to war with both the Federal and Confederate, and who made a world of history between Bull Run and Appomattox."

Real soldiers are not made of barroooon, and street brawlers.

It is the last day to apply for work shop or the farm who paints his name on the page of history for bravery.

THE December Treasury surplus was $7,613,000. Even with a war in progress the Republican Administration falls into the old habit of declaring surpluses.

AS COLONEL WATTERSON expresses it, "the country is in a state of helpless prosperity;" and so the Democratic captains are traversing the land in the painful endeavor of trying to find a place whereon to stand.

Since Mr. BRYAN's last Expansion hedge, the Indianapolis Journal says that one cannot fail to notice that a number of Democrats, including Mr. BRYAN, are getting as near the Republican policy with reference to the Philippines as they can and still be against it.

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND writes that he can find no evidence to support the claim that "Jacksonian Democracy sanctions the degradation of the people's currency." And so Mr. CLEVELAND differs from Mr. BRYAN, who contends that both JACKSON and JEFFERSON were in reality Populists.

MANUFACTURERS and their employees must have been extremely busy during the year 1899. They increased their importations of raw material for use in manufacturing 33% over the busy year of 1898 and 65% over the last year under the Wilson Law, while exports of manufactures increased 23% over last year and 50% over the last year of the Wilson Law.

THE British losses in Africa in the last 90 days are officially reported at over 7,000 men killed, wounded and captured. This is many times as great as the entire losses of the United States in the eighteen months since the War with Spain began and was followed by that in the Philippines. Yet there is still found occasionally a man with the iron nerve to continue to criticize the conduct of our war.

THE public can have little respect for the Presidential candidate who spent an entire campaign on the stump urging people to vote for himself, and they must have less for one who spent an entire four years following that failure in asking to be given a second trial. There is a feeling that in a position of this dignity the office should seek the man, or at least that the man is hardly justified in making a five years personal campaign in his own behalf.

COMPLAINT was made about the way in which the Currency Bill was "rallied through the House" without giving members a chance to explore their silver views. There has been, however, no restraint on speech in the Senate, and Democratic Senators have had the privilege of talking Free-silver as much as desired. But they have not been enthusiastic over this privilege. Free-silver speeches seem to be things of the dead and almost forgotten past.

MR. BRYAN cheerfully announces wherever he goes that the silver question is just as important as ever and is not to be abandoned. This will be interesting news to the Mine Workers' Association whose National Convention at Indianapolis the other day tabbed a free-coinsage resolution amid cries of "We want no 16 to 1," and will also strike the average laboring man as somewhat absurd in view of the statements and the prosperity which has followed the rejection of the silver panacea offered at that time.

EVERY report of Bradstreet's and Dun's is a confirmation of the statements that our industries are all prosperous and upon a stable basis. Farmers are paying off their mortgages in millions of dollars, and are no longer anxious to abandon their farms and move away. Farm property is gradually but surely rising in value. There is no longer a glut in the markets for manufactures, and factories are voluntarily raising the wages of their workers all over the country. The party of calamity and opposition and hard times finds itself in sore straits for any reasonable issue to cast voters to really behind.

EXPORTS of iron and steel manufactures amounted to $105,000,000 in 1899, and the imports to only $15,000,000. In 1890, twenty years ago, the exports amounted to only $18,000,000 and the imports to $65,000,000. With this practical evidence of the benefit of protection there are very few workingmen or manufacturers who will listen with any patience to Free-trade arguments in the coming campaign.

MR. BRYAN has been visiting Washington and is reported to have had "an important conference with Senator JONES, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee." The idea that the candidate and JONES have to get together every now and then to ask each other if they still adhere to Free-silver, and the Chicago platform is stated to be an erroneous one. What the leaders are now doing is concocting the best scheme for playing the different voting elements this way and that to the advantage of the Demo-Pop candidate.

Consumption Taxation.
C. Unger, 25 Main street, Champaign, Ill.—"I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had the consumption. I consulted a physician for several months, used one bottle of Folly's Honey and Tea and it cured me. I am now well again. Write to me and I will tell you more about it." J. J. Wood & Son and Armstrong & Co.

Elder Sam Buckner of Bourbon county is probably the oldest active colored Preacher in Kentucky. He joined the Christian Church under Elder John Rogers, who baptized him. He is now 85 years old. Elder Harry W. Stone and other noted Ministers who have preached at Cane Ridge Church in bygone days. Elder Buckner is an octogenarian and is the father of 11 children. He still preaches when the weather is not too bad for him to fill engagements. He was granted by Mr. A. L. Baker, Bishop of grandfathers, and was never in the Court house, but once, when as witness in a case.

WHISKY OUTLOOK.

Is the Best That Has Ever Been Known, According to the Kentucky Distillers' Association.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 31.—The whisky outlook for Kentucky is the best that ever been seen according to T. M. Gilmore, secretary of the Kentucky Distillers' association. Mr. Gilmore says that the report that a meeting has been called for next week is not correct.

Mr. Gilmore says that an era of great prosperity has come in the wake of the present active demand for whiskies and the rapid depletion of stocks now on hand. For the past 11 years the annual consumption of Kentucky whisky has been 21,000,000 gallons exclusive of that shipped to Canada and foreign countries. Fifteen months from now the whisky made in 1893 and 1894 will all be gone, and all the 6,000,000 gallons of the 1894 crop will have disappeared. Within a year and a half the small crops made in 1895 and 1896 will be gone.

Harland Whittaker Taken to the Louisville Jail But Many Think That He Is Innocent.

Contest Board Declares That Goebel Was Elected and Entitled to the Senate—Frankfort in Control of Militia—Excitement Intense.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 31.—William Goebel, state senator from Kenton county and democratic contestant for the office of governor of the state, who was so foully shot down on the streets yesterday, is still alive.

Harland Whittaker, a farmer from Butler county, the home county of Gov. Taylor, is now in the jail at Louisville, charged with the crime. There is no direct evidence against Whittaker, but he was placed under arrest more because he was thought to be coming from the building from which the shots were fired than for any other apparent reason. He denies in the most positive manner that he had any connection with the shooting or that he knew anything about it. He was running toward the scene of the shooting, and not away from it, when he was caught.

The shooting took place at 11:10 o'clock. Goebel was on his way to the senate chamber in company with Col. Jack Chin and Wardens Eph Lillard, of the Frankfort penitentiary. Mr. Lillard was a few feet in advance of Goebel and Chin, who were walking side by side, Goebel being on the right and Chin on the left. From the outer edge of the capitol grounds to the steps of the capitol building the distance is about 300 feet. The sun was low in the sky when it passed, and the men were walking slowly, when suddenly a shot rang out from a large three-story building which stands 50 feet east of the capitol building. This building is used for offices by all the leading officials of the state. Gov. Taylor and the secretary of state having rooms on the first floor.

As the shot was heard Goebel gave a quick involuntary exclamation of pain and made an effort to draw his revolver, but it struck him in the back of the hand, however, and he sank upon the pavement. With great rapidity several more shots were fired, the bullets all striking the brick sidewalk close to where Goebel lay. None of them touched him.

Lillard, who had turned around to aid Goebel, was struck in the head by a bullet and was supported by Chin, who had his arms about him almost as soon as he touched the pavement. "Get help," said Chin to Lillard, and turning to Goebel he asked:

"Are you hurt, Goebel? Did they get you?"

"They have got me this time," said Goebel, "as you they have killed me."

In less than a minute a crowd of men was around Goebel. He was losing much blood, and was very weak. He was quickly carried to the office of Dr. J. E. Hume, in the basement of the Capitol hotel, about 1,000 feet from the spot where the shooting occurred. Here he was laid upon a sofa while Dr. Hume made a hasty examination, pronouncing the end of life near at hand. The physician then caused the door of the hotel to be closed and bolted. Goebel, who showed great fortitude and courage throughout, smiled weakly as he heard the verdict, and feebly rolled his head from side to side in token of dissent from the opinion expressed.

He was then carried to his room on the second floor of the Capitol hotel, and, in addition to Dr. Hume, Drs. McCormick and Ely were summoned to attend him. After a careful examination of the wound the doctors announced that, while exceedingly dangerous, it was not necessarily fatal.

When complications or blood poisoning should set in. The patient had kept up his courage, insisting again and again that he was not going to die.

Mr. Goebel was wounded by a rifle ball of small caliber—not over .35—which struck him in the right side just below the heart. It passed through the back part of the right lung, across the body on a diagonal line, passing out below the left shoulder blade. No important organs were injured, with the exception of the right lung.

In addition to Drs. Hume, Ely and McCormick, of this place, who were in attendance upon the wounded man, Drs. J. C. Mackenzie, N. P. Dandridge and Dr. W. W. Walker were summoned. Dr. Chin and Dr. Lillard also came from Louisville. As soon as the physicians from Louisville and Cincinnati had examined the patient a consultation was held, at the conclusion of which Dr. Hume announced that the chances had turned very much in favor of the wounded man.

The bullet which struck Mr. Goebel was fired from a window in the center of the third story of the capitol. It was raised about eight inches above the sill, so that when Mr. Goebel should come within range. The window was left open, no effort having been made to close it by the would-be assassin, while not another window in the building was open nor were there any places where bullets had been fired through them.

The man who fired the shots took the precaution to conceal his location by using smokeless powder cartridges. A score of persons who were in the vicinity of the side of the building from which the firing was done, and all of them declare that not a sign of powder smoke was visible.

Both Chin and Lillard are men of experience in such matters, and will make a more or less prominent feature, and both declare that, while they could tell the general direction from which the bullets came, they could not guess the spot from which they were fired.

Whittaker was arrested as he came in the doorways. Some of these men held Winchesters in their hands and pointed them at the fugitive, but when no attempt was made to search the building and nobody gained entrance to it for several minutes after the shooting had been done, and the assassin had ample opportunity to escape.

The physicians, state officials and members of the legislature without exception denounced the shooting in the most unmeasured terms. Gov. Taylor immediately caused a small ad-dress to be written to the governor of the state, calling the affair to be a crime and an outrage, and calling for the most sober condemnation. He sent orders at once to Adjt. Gen. Collier directing him to take steps for the preservation of order. Gen. Collier, a relative of Mr. Goebel, he declared the shooting to be a most cowardly affair and one that upon every consideration was to be regretted. He lost no time in making speeches, however, and before the day was over had issued a proclamation calling for a general assembly to be convened to be held in Frankfort on January 25.

BULLER SENDS LARGE CASUALTY LIST

It Does Not Include Those at Spion Kop Which is Now Said to Be Eighteen Hundred Dead.

Gen. French's Forces Repulse the Enemy, and Findings His Position Strongly Retracted to Their Former Camp.

London, Jan. 31.—The war news continues to hold back definite news in regard to the casualties at Spion Kop resulting from Wednesday's battle, but reports from various sources state that the British losses were even greater than those reported in the dispatch of Sunday night. One report states that the British casualties exceeded 1,800 dead and 1,000 wounded. In view of the large number of officers reported killed—twice as many as at Colenso—it is reasonable to fear that the Boer report of the British losses will prove to be nearly accurate.

Gen. Buller reported a large additional list of casualties on Saturday night, including 1,000 killed. From January 29 to 31, including January 30, the British lost 4,100 killed, 102 wounded and 1 missing; January 21, 13 killed, 130 wounded and 4 missing; January 22, 3 killed and 13 wounded; and January 26, 20 wounded in minor operations.

It will be noticed that January 24, the day of Warren's battle on Spion Kop, Buller reports only 3 killed and 12 wounded. This doubtless does not refer to the famous Spion Kop, as the Boers had not been bombarding the camp since that engagement at 6:30.

This last casualty report from Buller brings the total losses of the British and the Tugela river movement since January 20 up to 1,029.

GOEBEL DECLARED ELECTED.

The Contesting Board Votes on the Subject and Decides That He Is Entitled to the Seat.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 31.—While William Goebel lay at the point of death in his room, as the result of an assassin's bullet, the contesting board which for two weeks had been listening to the evidence in the contest for the governorship, declared him entitled to the seat.

The hours having in charge the contests between Goebel and Taylor and Beckham and Marshall, met at 7 o'clock last night in the city hall to consider the evidence submitted to them and prepare their report to the legislature.

A few legal authorities were read to them by the request of Senator Allen, who wished light shed upon a few dark points. The vote was taken and by a strict party vote of 3 to 1 Wm. Goebel was declared to have been legally elected governor of Kentucky.

The Beckham-Marshall contest was then voted upon, and a strict party vote of 9 to 2 settled the matter. No member of either party voted.

After the results were known the members leading up to report, the boards taking everything at one leap. Each member of both committees announced that he had made up his mind as to the merits of the case and voted without consulting the other.

In the contest for governor Representative Garberry was the one to vote in favor of Taylor, and in the Beckham-Marshall contest Reld and Lilly were for Marshall.

An effort was made by a number of delegates to get together a quorum of both houses, held a night session, hear the reports of the two committees, adopt them, and declare Goebel governor before morning. They were anxious to give him the title of governor, but did not get a quorum of either house.

There was a number of difficulties to be overcome, however, and they were unable to do so. The Boers were found in great force, confirming the reported reinforcement, and the entire attack and returned to town.

Shelling All Parts of Kimberley.

Kimberley, Jan. 29.—The wholesale bombardment which lasted all day yesterday, was still continuing this morning, and the Boers shelled all parts of Kimberley. There were several casualties, including a woman and child. The favorite target appears to have been the hospital. A shrapnel shell exploded close to a horse which was proceeding to the cemetery and a shell burst in the cemetery during the funeral.

The republicans will probably, as soon as their decision is rendered in favor of Goebel, file a writ of habeas corpus in the United States circuit court at Cincinnati, for an injunction restraining Goebel and Beckham from taking the seats, and the bell will then be rung.

The republicans will probably, as soon as their decision is rendered in favor of Goebel, file a writ of habeas corpus in the United States circuit court at Cincinnati, for an injunction restraining Goebel and Beckham from taking the seats, and the bell will then be rung.

The grounds upon which the injunction will be asked are the unfitness of several members of the contest boards to set in judgment upon the case, and several other grounds which the republican attorney declines to discuss.

Whittaker in Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 31.—The Chase & Ohio train which reached here at 8 o'clock from Frankfort brought Harlan Whittaker, the prisoner, who was arrested on suspicion of having fired the shot which wounded Senator Goebel. The prisoner, in custody of Frankfort officers, was taken to the county jail at once. The incident occasioned no excitement, and only the usual crowd was gathered at the station.

DEAD BODIES ARRIVE.

Remains of Gen. Lawton, Gen. Logan and Lieut. Bennett and Dr. Armstrong Reach San Francisco.

San Francisco, Jan. 31.—With the flag of the United States flying at half-mast, Thomas entered this harbor bearing the remains of Gen. Henry W. Lawton, Gen. John A. Logan, Jr., Lieut. Bennett and Dr. J. J. Armstrong. In that cabin of the transport were about 20 passengers, including Mrs. Lawton, the widow of the general.

The vessel was met at the Golden Gate by Gen. Shafter and Lieut. Wilson, Maj. W. F. Tucker, brother-in-law of Mrs. Logan, Robert Henry, a friend of the Logan family and a captain of a company of volunteer service. The Thomas was passed by the quarantine authorities and Gen. Shafter then escorted Mrs. Lawton and her children to the home of friends.

The parties constituting the hearse were landed at the transport dock and later taken to an undertakers under an escort of artillery.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed, though it has been decided that no funeral services will be held here.

Died, January 26th, Mrs. Inez Carpenter. She leaves six children, all girls, and a host of relatives to mourn her departure. She was the wife of Charles Carpenter.

Coughs and colds come uninvited, but you can quickly set rid of them with a few doses of Cane's Honey of Tea. Price 25 and 30 cents. Jas. Wood & Son.

MAYSVILLE'S TOBACCO FAIR.

What Others Thought of Our Mid-winter Exhibition.

The Western Tobacco Journal, published at Cincinnati by Mr. Thomas Mason, in its issue this week, says:

Maysville, in her initiatory Tobacco Fair held Saturday, January 26th, has fully proven her ability to make a success of what her enterprising and energetic citizens undertake. She has demonstrated the fact that she can rival the quality and production of White Burley Tobacco. The county of Mason in Kentucky is among the pioneers of that type of Tobacco, and within a radius of five counties there is no tobacco raised in the County District there is close to 15,000,000 pounds of tobacco produced yearly.

Maysville is well located from a business standpoint for Tobacco manufacturing or other interests. Her citizens invite capital to invest who are looking for a good location and other advantages. There are no tolls or taxes except city taxes $2.25, and rail and water transportation. They also offer cheap locations and taxes free for five years to manufacturers locating there.

Notwithstanding all day rain the tobacco fair was a success.

Mr. Mason said that it is productive of several good features, one of which is the bringing together of the Tobacco growers and the warehousemen, brokers, speculators and the resident buyers of Leaf Tobacco in the auction markets for the large Tobacco market.

It has been said that "one tonch of nature makes us all kin"; so it is in holding Tobacco Fairs, for it brings together the various elements of the Tobacco trade, who have an opportunity to get in close touch with the producer and the consumer, and in the auction market they all feel that a closer bond has been welded after an occasional social and business gathering.

In looking over the large audience of the farming community assembled in the Opera-house their personnel in intelligence, and as a representative body, of whom could be proud. The honored guests on the stage added luster to the gathering.

When it comes to fun and frolic, interested with business, there is no class of business men that have more of it than the tobacco men. They are the life of their calling, which brings them together almost daily on the auction sales, is productive of a fellow feeling.

While to Mr. John Duley, President of the Board of Trade, with the liberal work of THE MAYSVILLE LEDGER and BULLETIN, and the success of the Fair, they were able and liberally supported by the citizens of Maysville.

The Cincinnati and Louisville Tobacco Trade were in evidence everywhere, each not losing an opportunity to say all the good things of their markets.

CAT OUT OF THE BAG.

Sir Thomas Tancred Not in Mr. Dickinson's Black Diamond Railway Deal.

The Kirkby Dickinson faction of the Black Diamond Railway promoters has been trying to create the impression that Sir Thomas Tancred, the British expert Engineer, is co-operating with them in their efforts to sidetrack Colonel Albert E. Boone, original projector of the letter to Collier House.

Investment Terrace,
KENNINGTON GARDENS, W.1,
LONDON, January 15, 1901.

Dear Collier - I enclose herewith safely your letter and enclosure of December 22d. The subject of them is quite new to me, and I had no knowledge of the option contract of March 22, 1900, and did not know of its existence until your letter reached me. I am, however, entirely in the dark as to the present position of the Black Diamond matter. We were given to understand that the financial part of the business had been placed entirely in Mr. H. H. Scott's hands, whom we have seen a friend of ours, and I believed, to be a friend of Mr. Dickinson. We are given to understand that the masterfully managed part of the business is now in the hands of Mr. Scott, and it would appear from the newspaper accounts that the camp is in a division between Mr. Scott and Mr. Dickinson. The state of mind continues. I see no chance of Mr. Dickinson being able to present his case in a reasonable manner, and I believe that he will be compelled to consider himself beaten. Until the little Transvaal scrap is over it will be quite impossible for him to be impeded to financial affairs by his favorite termination, and I should like to see him compelled to do his duty and to locate the next National Democratic Convention here, and his latest success of writing Mr. J. G. Schindlapp for a $100,000 poll in the Union Central, a Cincinnati company. Mr. Scott had some connection with a firm of out-of-town company. This is the largest single policy of life insurance ever written in Cincinnati proper.
